

AXIS TYPE

Catalog

Axis Type Foundry was one of the first independent type foundries to establish itself centered on personal computer technology. Axis Type Foundry holds exclusive license to over 300 original typeface designs created by a roster of contemporary designers. Axis Type Foundry's full line of typefaces, ornaments and illustrations is available in Type 1 PostScript, TrueType, and Open Type for both the Macintosh and PC. Axis Type Foundry's designs have won numerous awards; Axis Type Foundry was the 1994 recipient of the prestigious Chrysler Award for Innovation in Design and the 1996 Publish Magazine

Impact Award. Axis Type

Foundry was also the 1997 recipient of the AIGA Gold Medal Award and the 1998 Charles Nyples Award. In 2003 we moved our operation to Charlotte, North Carolina. We set-up shop, in our current location, in the Plaza-Midwood/Central Avenue neighborhood.

If you're in Charlotte drop in and say, "Hey Y'all".

A photograph of the word "Design" spelled out using large, metallic, three-dimensional letter blocks. The letters are arranged in a row, with the 'D' being the largest and most prominent. The blocks have a weathered, industrial look.
